It'll be my first year at a college and I really want to try new things and get more involved in things that BC has to offer and reading more about BCSGA really caught my attention because it seems to have what I need for my first year, I also want be involved in programs BC has and in this program it will motivate me to work harder than I should and later on it will pay off by being able to experience not only the college work and classes but all the other positive fun stuff to do and be around

- Thank you
